

Introduction to Universal Design for Learning: The Why, the What, and the How

October 24, 2022 – December 2, 2022
December 19, 2022 – February 3, 2023
February 27, 2023 – April 7, 2023
May 22, 2023 – June 30, 2023

Online Course

This self-paced, online course provides participants with an introduction to Universal Design for Learning (UDL) by exploring the Why, the What, and the How of UDL. Through the course lessons and activities, participants will learn how to develop clear goals, recognize obstacles in the learning environment, and utilize the UDL guidelines to meet individual needs in pursuit of expert learning.

Participants will complete all course requirements via the online platform, Schoology.

Objectives

- List the features of learner variability and recognize variability as the norm
- Analyze the myth of average
- Define expert learning and identify its characteristics
- Examine UDL as a compliment to other educational frameworks and processes including Multi-Tiered Systems of Support and Positive Behavior Interventions and Supports
- Identify the three UDL principles and their relationships to learning

Presenter

PaTTAN Educational Consultants

Target Audience

General Education Teachers, Special Education Teachers, Intermediate Unit Training and Consultation Staff, and others interested in this topic

Registration Information:

Please register online by visiting the PaTTAN website at www.pattan.net/events

For registration questions, contact:

Karen Weaver, kweaver@pattan.net, 800-446-5607 x6842

For content related questions, contact:

Lauren Lutz, llutz@pattan.net, 800-446-5607 x6854

Continuing Education Credit: Act 48 Clock Hours

Participants must complete all modules along with the pre-assessment, post-assessment and final assessment within Schoology in order to receive [6] Act 48 Professional Education hours.