Self-Regulated Strategy Development (SRSD)

- Over twenty years of research on self-regulation consistently shows that a “self-regulated” approach to writing contributes to improvements in student writing knowledge, strategic behaviors, self-regulation skills, and motivation.
- Research has demonstrated that well designed strategy instruction can produce substantial gains in writing quality for struggling writers.

---

---

---

---

---

What is a Strategy?

12

---

---

---

---

---

---

What is a Strategy?

A strategy is a set of operations or actions that a person consciously undertakes to accomplish a goal.

13

---

---

---

---

---

---

Good Writers Use Strategies!

- The ultimate goal of strategy development is for students to deliberately and independently activate taught strategies when writing.
- Over time, strategies for planning, writing, editing, and revising, will, in essence, become the “invisible knowledge” that students carry in their heads while engaging in writing tasks.

14

---

---

---

---

---

For example. . .

I'm going to teach you a "trick" that will help you with your writing. You will learn a strategy, or trick, that good writers use for. . .

15

---

---

---

---

---

Student Outcomes

- Student self-selection and independent use of strategies.
- Mastery of higher level cognitive processes involved in composing.
- Autonomous, reflective, creative, self-regulated use of effective writing strategies.
- Knowledge of the characteristics of good writing.
- Positive attitudes and beliefs about writing and one's own capabilities as a writer (self-efficacy); attributions to effort and strategy use.

16

---

---

---

---

---

---

Student Outcomes

- What goals do I need to set and accomplish to write for this audience or purpose?
- What writing strategies do I know work well when writing for this audience or purpose?
- What do I know about this assignment that would help inform my strategy selection?
- When do I use this strategy? When I am planning? Drafting? Revising?

(IES Practice Guide, Teaching Secondary Students to Write Effectively, 2016)

---

---

---

---

---

2. Think About Visual Learners

18

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What about Writing for Visual Learners?

- There is a need for deaf students to develop cohesiveness in their writing.
  - Students typically rely on associative kinds of writing techniques –and don't fully understand the components and flow of the writing process.

(See research by Kimberly A. Wolbers, Hannah M. Dostal, Steve Graham)

19

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What about Writing for Visual Learners?

- There is the need for deaf students to develop the inner dialogue (“writer’s voice”) used by of expert writers.
  - Often students don’t use inner discourse to prompt self-questioning and self-monitoring when writing.

(See research by Kimberly A. Wolbers, Hannah M. Dostal, Steve Graham)

20

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Research-based Instruction for Visual Learners

- Emphasizes a strategic, interactive approach.
- Instruction that promotes metacognitive strategies and helps students self-monitor and evaluate their own writing.
- Instruction that focuses on strategies to help students navigate critical components of the writing process.

(See research by Kimberly A. Wolbers, Hannah M. Dostal, Steve Graham)

Writing Strategies

Self-Regulated Stategy Development
(SRSD)

(See research by Graham, Harris, Troia, De la Pez)

24

---

---

---

---

---

---

Self-Regulated Strategy Development (SRSD)

The following develop in tandem:

- Powerful writing strategies and critical strategies for self-regulation of the writing process
- Self-efficacy for writing, motivation, and adaptive attributions

25

---

---

---

---

---

---

Self-Regulation

- “Self-regulated learners” are learners who plan, set goals, organize, self-monitor, and self-evaluate their learning.

Self-regulation is the ownership of learning.

26

---

---

---

---

---

---

For example. . .

| 1. Did you look at the pictures and write down good describing words?                             | YES    NO |
| 2. Did you let your mind think free?  | YES    NO |
| 3. Did you like the words you thought of?   | YES    NO |
| 4. Did you remember your goal? – use more good describing words than last time?                   | YES    NO |
| 5. Did you think of a good story idea?  | YES    NO |
| 6. Did your story make sense and use good describing words?                                       | YES    NO |
| 7. Did you read your story and then fix it?   | YES    NO |
| 8. Did you take your time?  | YES    NO |
| 9. Did you remember to use everything you know about writing stories to help you while you wrote? | YES    NO |
| 10. Did you tell yourself you did a good job?   | YES    NO |

Self-Efficacy

- Self-efficacy is the belief in your capabilities to achieve a goal or an outcome, and related to your perceived capabilities for learning or performing behaviors at designated levels.

Make a prediction. What do you think the research says about student self-efficacy and writing achievement?

29

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

What the Research Says

- The degree to which a student perceives him or herself able to perform a writing task influences his or her performance.
- In turn, improved performance makes the student feel more competent.

31

Promoting Positive Mindset and Adaptive Attributions

- Help students to develop strategies or scripts when they engage in negative self-talk, and reinforce them for using those strategies or scripts.
- Include students in goal setting and monitoring to help them connect their hard work with increased academic success.
- Celebrate process, and provide explicit feedback that connects it with their use of new/appropriate learning strategies, skills, or behaviors.

Self-Statements

- Problem Definition: "What is my purpose for writing?"
- Focusing Attention & Planning: "I have to concentrate and think of the steps. I need to make a plan."
- Strategy: "First, I'll write down my essay strategy."
- Self-Evaluating & Error Correcting: "Have I used all my story parts? Let me check. Oops, I missed one; That's okay, I can revise.; Am I following my plan?"
- Coping & Self-Control: "I'm not going to get mad, mad makes me bad.; Okay, I need to go slow and take my time. I can do this."
- Self-Reinforcement: "Hurrah! I'm done!; I'm getting better at this!"

Goal Setting

- "I am going to write a paper that changes the reader's opinion or point of view."

...connect goals to the critical features of writing.

40

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Sample Goals

- General purpose of the paper – "Write a paper that will be fun to read."
- Completeness of the paper – "Write a story that has all of the basic parts."
- Length – "Write a paper that is 120 words long." "Write a paper with ten sentences." "Write a paper with five paragraphs."
- Specific Attributes – "Write a paper that has four reasons to support your premise." "Share with the reader four things about the main character."
- Vocabulary – "Write a story containing 15 describing words."
- Sentence Variety – "Write a paper in which one-fourth of the sentences are either compound or complex."
- Mechanics – "Write a paper with no spelling errors."

41

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Sample Goals

- General Goal: Take a position on the assigned topic and write a paper that persuades the reader you are right.
- Elaborated Goals (for example):
  - A statement that says what you believe
  - Two or three reasons that support your belief
  - Examples or supporting information for each reason
  - Two or three reasons why others might disagree
  - A statement about why these reasons are wrong

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

SCHEME (Goal Setting)

Visual Scaffolds

- Skills check. Complete an inventory that focuses on what you are currently doing well when writing and what you need to improve on.
- Choose goals. Based on the skills check, develop goals for your next writing assignment (e.g., find a place to write, reread my paper before turning it in, and get all of the information I need before I write).
- Match a plan for how to meet your specified goals.
- Execute the plan for achieving your goals.
- Edit. If you experience difficulty in achieving a goal, put actions into place to remedy this situation.

Evaluate Student Writing

Step 1: Collect Student Writing Samples

Step 2: Score quantitatively and qualitatively

Step 3: Consider "Six Measurable Components"

1. Fluency
2. Grammar
3. Conventions
4. Content
5. Penmanship
6. Student Knowledge of the Writing Process

Student Knowledge of the Writing Process

Writing Process Checklist

Remember: Please checkmark by month when you did the following on your paper.

Plan and Prewrite

- I had a schedule for when I would write on the paper.
- I had a quiet place to write.
- I got started writing right away.
- I had time to think before I began writing on the paper.
- I had time to think about what I wanted to say and how to say it.
- I had time to think about what I wanted to say and how to say it.

Introducing the Task

- I had time to think about the teacher's directions carefully.
- I asked the teacher to explain any part of the assignment that I didn't understand.
- I related the direction to my own words.

Planning

- I knew when to stop writing on my paper.
- I knew when I had written my paper as much as possible.
- I checked spelling on my paper before I started writing.
- I used a strategy to help me start my paper.

Setting up Organization

- I had time to think about what I wanted to write before I started to write.
- I got all the information I need before I started to write.
- I organized all the information in my paper before I started to write.

6. Explicitly Teach Writing Strategies

63

---

---

Examples of Writing Strategies

64

Planning and Organizing

65

PLAN

(Planning and Organizing)

- Pay attention to the writing assignment by identifying what you are asked to write about and how you should develop your essay.
- List your main ideas after gathering and evaluating ideas.
- Add supporting ideas (e.g., details, examples, elaborations, evidence) to each main idea. Consider whether each main idea is still relevant.
- Number the order in which you will present your ideas.

- O: Organize My Notes
- W: Write and Say More!

Pull Apart the Prompt

Prompt:

Explain why Abraham Lincoln's election in 1860 made southern states want to secede. Use text evidence from the passage. Support your answer with knowledge from class.

Do	What
1. Explain	-Why Abe Lincoln's election in 1860...
2. Use	-Text evidence from the passage
3. Support	-Knowledge from class

68

---

---

---

---

---

---

3 Step with TREE
(Planning and Organizing)

•Step 1. Think

- Who will read my paper?
- Why am I writing this paper?

•Step 2. Plan what to say using TREE

- T: Note topic sentence: _____
- R: Note reasons:
- E: Examine each reason above – Will by reader believe this?
- E: Note ending:
- Number which idea will go first, second, third, and so on.

Step 3. Write and say more

opinion/argumentative writing

STOP (Planning and Organizing)

- Suspend judgment
- Take a side
- Organize ideas
- Plan more as you write

Topic:
STOP
Suspend judgment. Brainstorm ideas for and against the topic.
For	Against
Take a side. Decide which side you are going to take. If you are going to take the "For" side, circle this word. If you are going to take the side "Against," circle this word.
Organize ideas. Write down the main ideas you will use when you plan to refute them.
Plan more as you write. Remember to use NAME to see if you used all four parts.

Writing Process Strategy

- Step 1. Brainstorm what you know about the topic
- Step 2. Use a graphic organizer to categorize and arrange the information
- Step 3. Organize the information by numbering which main idea will come first, second, etc.
- Step 4. Continue planning and using graphic organizer as you write
- Step 5. Use graphic organizer to see whether all the important information was used in the essay

Writing Process Strategy - POWER Strategy

- Plan, Organize, Write, Edit/Revise, Rewrite
- Designed to make the writing process visible to students.
  - Provides a structural framework for carrying out the thinking and organizational processes involved in each phase of writing.
  - Helps frame the “self-talk” used by writers.

(Englert, Raphael, Anderson, Anthony, Fear, & Gregg, 1988; Project Write:

COPS
(Editing)

- Have I Capitalized the first word of sentences and proper names?
- How is the Overall appearance?
- Have I put in commas and end Punctuation?
- Have I Spelled all words correctly?

Revising

80

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

SCAN
(Revising)

1. Read the first draft of your essay.
2. Find the sentence that tells what you believe. Is it clear?
3. Add to more reasons why you believe it?
4. SCAN each sentence and ask:
S: Does it make sense?
C: Is it connected to my belief?
A: Can I add more?
N: Note errors?
5. Make changes

STAR

(Revising)

- Reread your essay and code any necessary corrects with S, T, A, or R as follows:
  - Substitute overused words with precise words, weak verbs with strong verbs, weak adjectives with strong adjectives, and common nouns with proper nouns.
  - Take out unnecessary, irrelevant information, or information that belongs elsewhere.
  - Add details, descriptions, new information, figurative language, clarification of meaning, or expanded ideas.
  - Rearrange information for a more logical flow.
- Then, make revisions accordingly.

WIRMI

(Revising)

- After composing an essay, write a “What I Really Mean Is . . .” statement and keep a copy of it. Have a partner read the draft and write a “What I Think You Really Meant to Say Was . . .” statement in response to the essay. Compare your WIRMI statement to your peer’s response to determine whether the paper communicates effectively. Make revisions accordingly.

Pause and Process

SCAN (Does it make sense?-Is it connected to my belief?-Can I add more?-Note errors?) is an example of a writing strategy that focuses on the _____ phase of the writing process

- a) Planning and Organization
- b) Writing
- c) Editing
- d) Revision

85

Pause and Process

- What strategy could you teach to help increase writing independence and improve your students understanding of writing process?
- What strategy could you teach to help “fill in a gap” where there is an area of instructional need?
- . . . Or, if the sample strategies presented don’t address your instructional needs, identify the stage of writing (e.g., planning and organizing, writing, editing, revising) that you need to address through strategy instruction.

86

Explicit and Systematic Instruction

87

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Strategy Instruction

- An instructional approach in which students are explicitly and systematically taught (through modeling and guided practice with feedback) one or more strategies for planning, drafting, revising, and/or editing text with the goal of independent strategy use.

Instructional commitment and effort is required for strategy instruction.

88

---

---

---

---

---

---

Remember the Instructional End Goal. . .

- Student self-selection of strategies and independent use.

Teach to mastery!

89

---

---

---

---

---

---

Students Should Know. . .

- What goals do I need to set and accomplish to write for this audience or purpose?
- What writing strategies do I know work well when writing for this audience or purpose?
- What do I know about this assignment that would help inform my strategy selection?
- When do I use this strategy? When I am planning? Drafting? Revising?

(IES Practice Guide, Teaching Secondary Students to Write Effectively, 2016)

90

---

---

---

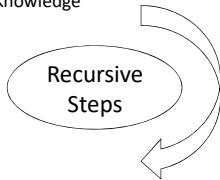

---

---

---

Steps for Teaching Writing Strategies

1. Develop and Activate Background Knowledge
2. Discuss It
3. Model It
4. Memorize It
5. Support It
6. Independent Performance

(Santangelo, Harris, & Graham, 2007)

91

---

---

---

---

---

---

1. Develop Background Knowledge

- Read and discuss examples and non-examples for the genre to be used in writing instruction.
- Discuss self-regulation strategies related to goal setting and self-monitoring.

Students are taught any background knowledge needed to use the strategy successfully.

92

---

---

---

---

---

---

2. Discuss It (Discourse is Critical)

- Discuss self-monitoring and goal setting (i.e., graphing).
- Discuss the strategy to be learned: purpose, benefits, how and when it can be used.
- Address how negative or ineffective self-talk, attitudes, or beliefs may be addressed in positive ways.

The strategy as well as its purpose and benefits are discussed and described.

93

---

---

---

---

---

---

3. Model It

- Model and collaborative demonstrate writing and self-regulation strategies.
- Model self-assessment and self-recording through graphing.
- Continue student development of self-regulation strategies across tasks and situations.

The teacher models the strategy.

94

---

---

---

---

---

---

4. Memorize It

- Reinforce the importance of memorize the strategy and the mnemonics.
- Continue to confirm and support memorization throughout all stages.

The student memorizes the steps of the strategy and any accompanying mnemonic.

95

---

---

---

---

---

---

5. Support It – Guided Practice

- Teachers and students use writing and self-regulation strategies collaboratively to achieve success in composing – using prompts such as strategy charts, personal self-statement sheets, and graphic organizers.
- Teachers and students collaborate, collaborate, collaborate!
- Self-regulation components (goal setting, self-instructions, self-monitoring, and self-reinforcement) are all being used.

The teacher supports or scaffolds student mastery of the strategy.

96

---

---

---

---

---

---

6. Independent Performance

- Students are able to use writing and self-regulation strategies independently; teachers monitor and support/enhance as needed.
- Fading of overt self-regulation may begin (e.g., graphing may be discontinued, self-statement sheets may not be out during writing).

Students use the strategy with few or no supports.

97

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Remember Your Resource Packet . . .

See the Self-Reflection Checklist for SRSD implementation. This checklist can also be used to document fidelity of implementation.

Which of these SRSD practices do you already use when teaching a writing strategy?

1 – I do this often    2 – occasionally    3 – have tried it    4 – haven't tried this yet

98

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Implementation Considerations

- Teach a few strategies intensively
- Coordinate across teachers, grades, subjects
- Coordinate with process approaches that emphasize social context
- Integrate with content area instruction
- Fit into a curriculum based on genre or purposes for writing (e.g., to persuade)

99

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Challenges

- Getting from single strategies to strategic learners is a long term process
- Demanding approach for teachers
  - Explicit explanation and modeling
  - Appropriate support
  - Evaluation of strategy use and results
  - Teaching to individual mastery in a group setting
- Demands on schools
  - Coordinated approach across classes and grades

100

---

---

---

---

---

---

...but, for students, learning a second writing strategy is faster than learning the first one!

101

---

---

---

---

---

---

Your instructional investment has a pay off. Writing strategies are powerfully effective.

102

---

---

---

---

---

---

Pause and Process

SRSD instruction requires the application of the following instructional stages:

- a) Model-Lead-Test
- b) Activate Background Knowledge-Discuss It-Model It-Memorize It-Support It-Independent Performance
- c) Topic-Reasons-Explanations-Ending
- d) Generating Content-Organizing Compositions-Formulating Goals-Executing Mechanics-Revising Text

103

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

Pause and Process

- How can you integrate and increase your reference to self-regulation strategies throughout your writing instruction?

What is a Strategy?

A strategy is a set of operations or actions that a person consciously undertakes to accomplish a goal.

110

---

---

---

---

---

---

Self-Regulated Strategy Development (SRSD)

The following develop in tandem:

- Powerful writing strategies and critical strategies for self-regulation of the writing process
- Self-efficacy for writing, motivation, and adaptive attributions

111

---

---

---

---

---

---

Strategies for Self-Regulation

- Self-monitoring Checklists
- Self-statement Charts
- Reward Statement Charts
- Goal Setting (i.e., visualizing)
